Cyprus

Teng Hsiao-ping, Vice Premier:

China is a developing socialist country; like Cyprus, she belongs to the third world. We are glad to see that, since the establishment of diplomatic relations in 1971, the friendly relations and cooperation between our two countries have steadily developed on the basis of the five principles of peaceful coexistence, and the mutual understanding and friendship between our two peoples have continuously increased. The current visit to China by President Makarios is adding a new chapter to the history of the friendly relations between our two countries. We believe that his beatitude the President's visit will certainly make a useful contribution to further developing friendly cooperation between China and Cyprus and the friendship between our two peoples as well as strengthening the cause of unity of the third world countries and people in combating imperialism.

("Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping's Speech at Peking Banquet," NCNA-English, Peking, May 18, 1974--SCMP 74-22/131-134)

Teng Hsiao-ping, Vice Premier:

At present, in the face of the policy of aggression and hegemonism pushed by the superpowers, we have the same interests and share weal and woe with the people of Cyprus, the third world and the people of the whole world. We are determined to develop continuously friendship and cooperation among us, unite even more closely and fight shoulder to shoulder against imperialism and hegemonism and for the progress of mankind in all fields. We have already won great victories, and we will certainly win still greater victories.

Malaysia

Jen-min Jih-pao Editorial:

The people of China and Malaysia enjoy a long-standing, traditional friendship. Friendly contacts between the two peoples date back to pre-Christian times. In recent years, their friendly relations were resumed and developed, with trade delegations exchanged and cultural and sports interflows carried out between the two countries. The representative of the Malaysian government to the 26th session of the UN General Assembly in 1971 voted in favor of restoring to China its lawful rights in the United Nations. Not long ago, Prime Minister Abdul Razak stated explicitly that Taiwan is a part of China's territory.

In the course of Prime Minister Abdul Razak's visit in China, leaders of the Chinese and Malaysian governments are scheduled to hold talks and sign an agreement on the establishment of diplomatic relations between the two governments. This will turn a new page in the relations between China and Malaysia. It is in complete accord with the aspirations and interests of the people of China and Malaysia for our two countries to establish and develop friendly relations on the basis of the five principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, mutual non-aggression, non-interference in each other's internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit, and peaceful co-existence. The Chinese people enthusiastically welcome and greet the establishment of diplomatic relations between China and Malaysia.

Chou En-lai, Premier:

There is a traditional friendship of more than two thousand years between the peoples of China and Malaysia. Our two peoples have always sympathized with and supported each other in the common struggle against imperialism and colonialism. We are glad to see that in recent years the friendship between the peoples of China and Malaysia has made new progress. Trade and friendly exchanges between our two countries have steadily increased. Normalization of relations between China and Malaysia is in the interests of both peoples. The governments of China and Malaysia have, through friendly consultations and in the spirit of mutual understanding, reached agreement on the establishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries. During Prime Minister Razak's visit in China, our two governments will formally announce the establishment of diplomatic relations, thus opening a new page in the history of China-Malaysia relations. The Chinese government and people warmly welcome this development.

("Premier Chou En-lai's Speech," NCNA-English, Peking, May 28, 1974--SCMP 74-24/40-42)

Li Hsien-nien, Vice Premier:

China and Malaysia are both developing countries belonging to the third world. Our two countries are both opposed to great-power hegemonism. I am convinced that, although the social systems of our two countries are different, our friendly relations will continue to develop on the basis of the five principles of peaceful co-existence. Our two peoples will certainly remain friendly to each other from generation to generation.

Owing to historical reasons, there are considerable numbers of people of Chinese origin living in Malaysia and other Southeast Asian countries. The Chinese government's policy on this matter is consistent and clear. We encourage them to take up of their own will the nationality of the country of their residence. Anyone of Chinese origin who takes up of his own will or acquires the nationality of the country of his residence automatically forfeits Chinese nationality. We would like to see them make a contribution to the country of their residence and work for the enhancement of friendship between the peoples of China and of the country of their residence. As for those residents abroad who retain Chinese nationality of their own will, we enjoin them to abide by the law of the country of their residence and live in amity with the people there. Their proper rights and interests will be protected by the government of China. These policies of ours have already won the understanding and trust of an increasing number of countries and people.

Pakistan

Jen-min Jih-pao Editorial:

A profound traditional friendship exists between the people of China and Pakistan, who have always sympathized with and supported each other in their common struggle against imperialism, hegemonism and expansionism. The Chinese government and people firmly support the Pakistan government and people in their just struggle to maintain national independence and defend state sovereignty. The Pakistan government and people, on their part, have always given the Chinese government and people sincere and warm support in international affairs. The friendship between our two peoples has stood the test of time. In the past two years or more since Prime Minister Ali Bhutto took reins of the government, the relations of friendship and cooperation between China and Pakistan have undergone new development and consolidation. We are convinced that the current friendly visit of Prime Minister Ali Bhutto to China will surely make new contributions to further promoting China-Pakistan friendship. We sincerely wish Prime Minister Ali Bhutto a complete success in his present visit, and we hope that the friendship between the people of China and Pakistan will remain evergreen.

Teng Hsiao-ping, Vice Premier:

China and Pakistan are close neighbors, and there exists a profound traditional friendship between our two peoples. We are both developing countries belonging to the third world. For years, our two peoples have always sympathized with and supported each other in the struggle against hegemonism and expansionism. Our friendship has stood the test of great storms. China-Pakistan friendship is by no means based on expediency but is an established policy of our two countries. The Chinese government and people highly treasure, and will never forget, the support and help the government and people of Pakistan have given us in many respects over the years. Our Pakistan friends may rest assured that, come what may, the Chinese government and people will, as always, firmly support Pakistan in her struggle in defense of national independence, state sovereignty and territorial integrity and against hegemonism and expansionism, and firmly support the people of Kashmir in their struggle for the right to self-determination.

Senegal

Jen-min Jih-pao Editorial:

China and Senegal belong to the third world. Our two peoples have cemented a profound, militant friendship through mutual support and encouragement in the struggles against imperialism, colonialism, hegemonism, racism and Zionism. Since China and Senegal established diplomatic relations, their relations of friendly cooperation have made satisfactory progress. The current visit of President Senghor to China will surely make new contributions to enhancing the friendship between the two peoples and to further strengthening the friendly cooperation between the two countries.

("Jen-min Jih-pao Editorial: A Warm Welcome to President Leopold Sedar Senghor," NCNA-English, Peking, May 6, 1974--SCMP 74-20/186-187)

*

Chou En-lai, Premier:

China and Senegal are both developing countries belonging to the third world. Our two peoples had the same historical experience, both being long subjected to colonialist and imperialist aggression, enslavement, oppression and exploitation. At present, we both face the common tasks of opposing imperialism, colonialism and hegemonism and of building our respective countries. In accomplishing this common cause, our two peoples have the need to learn from each other and to help and support each other. We are glad that since the establishment of diplomatic relations, the friendly relations and cooperation between China and Senegal have developed satisfactorily, and the friendship between our two peoples is growing daily. We are convinced that the current visit to China by His Excellency the President and Mme. Senghor will add a new chapter to the history of the development of relations between China and Senegal.

("Premier Chou En-lai's Speech," NCNA-English, Peking, May 6, 1974--SCMP 74-20/191-194)

*

Li Hsien-nien, Vice Premier:

The Chinese and Senegalese peoples will remain friendly to each other from generation to generation. Although China and Senegal have different social systems and ideologies, we are convinced that, with the joint efforts of our two sides and under the guidance of the five principles of peaceful co-existence, the friendly relations and cooperation between China and Senegal have broad prospects.

United Kingdom

Teng Hsiao-ping, Vice Premier:

The Chinese and British peoples have always been friendly to each other. When he was in office as Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, Mr. Heath attached importance to developing Sino-British relations, and agreement was reached with China on the exchange of ambassadors, acknowledging that Taiwan is a province of China. Since then, political, economic and cultural relations between the two countries have happily improved, and mutual understanding increased. This accords with the desire and interests of both peoples. We appreciate the efforts Mr. Heath has made to promote Sino-British friendship.

Although China and the United Kingdom have different social systems and there are still issues between our two countries to be settled at an appropriate time, we can very well, on the basis of the five principles of peaceful co-existence, seek common ground while reserving differences, make friends and develop our relations.
